Essay

I love America. I love Americans. Why? It is very simple, this great land that has provided so much for our people, we should stop and be thankful for all that we may have. Nothing should be taking for granted. We look at other countries, can anyone really tell who has as much freedom as Americans? I pity those other countries that put restraints on their citizens due to some wacko leader, wanting complete and absolute rule. All he wants are ginny-pigs, this disgusts me. I pray for that man. We have plenty examples of these sick individuals through our past and present encounters. We wonder what can drive a human being to this point, where there is nothing, but complete hatred for another human being. I pray that one day the answer shall be known.
